

Armchair Travel

You can visit anywhere in the world without actually going there!

The traveller experiences far away places from the comfort of their home or day service in ways that are meaningful to them.

Armchair travel is a wonderful medium for providing controlled sensory experiences and provides the traveller with lots of opportunities to express preferences, experience cause and effect, take turns, learn, practice and master new skills and have fun!

This workshop will provide

Information, strategies and resources to enable the “tour guide” to individualise armchair travel experiences for “tourists” with profound intellectual and multiple disabilities (PIMD).

Audience

Direct support staff, teachers and others who support people with (PIMD).
